About Us

On the banks of the Orange River and on the edges of Upington, lies the settlement of Lemoendraai from where our 14-member Lemoendraai Agricultural Association ingrained the Lemoendraai Agricultural Cooperative (Pty) Ltd in 2013. Our Cooperative has already started reaping from government's vineyard development initiative through the fixing of subsurface drainage and installation of irrigation systems. Thus, guaranteeing our stake in the horticultural industry.

Constituted by private plot owners, Lemoendraai Agricultural Cooperative, mirrors efforts undertaken by our individual members in seeking our own moment in the agricultural sun and with government rewarding us with infrastructure support and provision of mechanization. Land under control of the Cooperative; total of 100 hectares.

In harnessing our contribution to food security and diversifying our sources of income, Lemoendraai produces high quality cash crops such as Maize and Lucerne that many an urbanite might aerially sight as a kind of green carpet next to the river.

Produce and Markets: White wine grapes (Colombard and Chenin Blanc – 14ha) contracted to Orange River Cellars, Lucerne – local market and Eastern Cape and export to Namibia and with Maize being supplied to local market.

Objective: Positioning ourselves to improve on local, national and international market foothold.

Government spent: R3, 5 million.
